"JIM CROW" CAR BILL INTRODUCED IN SENATE

The question of "Jim Crow" care for the District of Columbia had been raised again in Congress. Senator Tiliman of South Carolina introduced a bill in the Sonate yes-terday which would apply the "Jim Crow" system to the District, and would require separate cars for white and negro passengers on the airest railway lines of Washington. The bill was referred to the District of Columbia Committee. A num-

M. Eidlitz, director of housing, has been investigating the site question and will report his suggestions this afternoon.

> Want Homes for 20,000. The law which Congress is expected to pass in a few days providing $60,000,000 for housing, allots $10,005,000 of that amount to Washington with which it is believed homes for 18,000 to 20,000 clerks can be provided. Before the money be emes available, however, it will be necessary for Mr. Elellis and his assistants, brough Secretary Wilson, to submit to Congress plans and estimates for the buildings it is proposed to erect. These plans are practically ready and esti-mates will be prepared when called for, The bill now in Congress is a mere authorization of construction, to be followed by the custoramy appropriation.

The bill provides that the barracks must be constructed on Government reservations, shutting out the purchase or use of private property. Mr. Shan-non's investigations have carried him through Potomac Park and over the property belonging to the Government in the Union Station plaza, between the Capitol and Union Station.

To Build Some on Plans.

The housing authorities are already in agreement that some of the buildings shall be erected on plana property and some in Potomac Park, all to be placed so that the occupants are within walking distance of their work, thereby preventing additional burdens on street railways.

Estimates furnished to the Civil Service Commission by the various departments are that close to 30,000 more clerks will be brought to Washington before December 31 next and they are coming in every day now. Since war was declared 45,000 workers have been brought to Wash-ington, not including thousands of the higher classes not under the jurindiction of the commission.

To care for the influx of workers until the Government has the bar-racks completed is th egreat problem that will devolve on the housing committee of the local Council of Defense. Mr. Hege, the head of this mmittee still has a fairly good list of rooms for incoming clerks and is continuing his appeals to Washington people to list rooms with his bu-He has found people here so patriotic in answering his appeals that he continues hopeful that the point of room exhaustion may not be reached as soon as some have ex pected.

Do Not Bring Pamilles. That Washington's population would awell by many thousands more people if the new clerks could bring their families here is evident to Mr. Hege and all others who are working on housing matters. Mr. Hege is doing what he can to discourage the bringing of families now until the scarcity of rooms is relieved. He recognizes the desires of young men and women to have their mothers and fathers or others with them, but where they wish to obtain rooms only he is compelled to point out to them the possibilities of serious inconvenience just at
